OSCE

31. The examination will take the form of 12 stations. It may be necessary to include extra 'rest' stations if candidate numbers require them; candidates will not be asked questions nor marked for these stations. On occasions, written information may be provided at a rest station for "reading in" in preparation for the following station.
32. The stations will test candidates on technical knowledge, clinical skills, clinical problem solving, clinical examination and management and counselling techniques. Examiners will be present at all stations and use will be made of actors and counsellors, who will also be involved in assessing candidates. Candidates must pass 8 out of the 12 stations to pass the OSCE.
33. Candidates will receive a further briefing on the day of the OSCE.

MARKING SYSTEM

34. The Dip G-U Med examination is criterion referenced to the current nationally acceptable standard as determined by the Examiners.
35. Before the examination, the Dip G-U Med Examination Panel assesses the difficulty of the questions against the level of knowledge expected of candidates using a standard procedure such as the modified Angoff method.
36. All judgements by the standard setters are then analysed and a criterion-referenced pass mark is established. As a result of the standard setting, the pass mark and pass rate can vary from one examination to the next, although the standard required remains the same.
37. The Examination may include pre- and post-test questions (trial questions that are used for research purposes only). A small number of pre-test questions may appear in any paper. Responses to them do not count towards a candidate's final score.

CURRICULUM

38. The examination is mapped to the GUM, HIV and Epidemiology & Public Health competencies of the Specialty Training Curriculum for Genitourinary Medicine 2016, approved on 6 September 2016, with an implementation date of 1 December 2016, issued by The Joint Royal College of Physicians Training Board (JRCPTB).
