

American Eden - Call for posters

As part of this event, there will be an opportunity for participants to showcase their research and ideas in the form of a poster. Posters must relate to the main themes of the evening: plants, medicine, and links between European and American medical and pharmaceutical practices.

- Posters will only be accepted in hard copy format, to be displayed on poster boards on the day.

Presenters will be asked stand near their poster to discuss with participants.

Applications for inclusion should include the title of the poster, the names of presenting and other authors, and their professional role and affiliation.

The deadline for submissions is Friday 14 June 2019. Abstracts should be sent to facultyhp@apothecaries.org with the subject line "American Eden poster".

Submissions will be reviewed by the organising committee, and those accepted will be notified by email by Friday 21 June 2019. Presenters must be registered to attend within a week of acceptance or their work will not be displayed.
