Ben Street is an art historian, author, lecturer, and educator based in London, the author of several books on art for general and younger readers. He has written for numerous publications, including museum catalogues, monographs, and magazines, and has participated as an expert on TV and radio programmes for the BBC.

He has worked as a lecturer, educator and mentor for many museums and educational institutions, including The National Gallery, Tate, the Royal Academy of Arts, Dulwich Picture Gallery, Christie’s Education, Sotheby’s Institute of Art, the Museum of Modern Art and the Solomon R Guggenheim Museum, New York and is currently a tutor at the University of Oxford and the University of East Anglia.

Currently researching and writing his PhD on the late Philip Guston, about whom there an exhibition at Tate Modern until 24th February 2024.

In 2016 he led an event for the Livery Committee at Dulwich Picture Gallery. On 25th April 2024 Ben has agreed to lead us through four art galleries in Fitzrovia/Mayfair. There will be about a 5-minute walk between each gallery. Disabled access is not considered to be a problem but there are unlikely to be any seats at the galleries. Ben will decide nearer the date which galleries we will be visiting as these have not yet published their exhibitions. Applicants will be updated nearer the date, informed which galleries will be visited, and where to meet.

The intention is to visit two galleries before lunch and two after. Lunch will be taken at local hostelrys of which there are plenty. Each Apothecary and guest will choose and pay for their own refreshments.

Refunds, minus a £5 admin fee (per ticket), will be offered, upon request, to anyone cancelling for any reason up to six working days before an event. After this time, no refunds are available.

The Livery Committee is the Society's members' social committee and is separate from the main Society Programme. It operates outside of the governance of the Society, and uses a money-pooling system for all of its events. Net receipts collected by the Society on their behalf are passed to the Livery Committee.
